AL-MADINA

Al-Madina Institute is a non-profit, 501(c)(3) educational institution of higher learning founded by a diverse group of American Muslims committed to providing Muslim communities with opportunities to seek sacred knowledge. Since its inception sixteen years ago, Al-Madina has reached students across the world with its seminars, tours, blog, publications, and multimedia content.

The inerrant Divine Message and Messenger have the power to transform hearts and lives, and as such, it is at the center of our curriculum. Our goal is to transmit Qur'anic truths in a consistent, concise and reliable form. We seek to help students articulate these truths clearly, defend them reasonably, and live them out graciously as they experience the transforming impact of Islam on their lives.

Al-Madina has conducted over 30 different seminars and large venue events across the United States, focusing on a curriculum merging the traditional Islamic sciences with their modern, practical application. In the past few years, Al-Madina has launched the Al-Madina Blog, and released several publications, translations, and free ebooks. Al-Madina has organized spiritual tours to Islamic historical sites around the world, including Turkey, Morocco, Spain and Saudi Arabia.

Now in its eleventh year, the Pearls of the Qur'an conference is an annual event focusing on selected topics related to the sciences and commentary of the Qur'an, taught by a diverse group of well-renowned scholars. Its goal is to inspire a restoration of the Qur'an within our hearts with a renewed understanding and application in our daily lives.
